BIODIVERSITY AUSTRALIA VEGETATION MANAGEMENT.

With extensive knowledge and experience, along with a 'whole of ecosystem' approach, our Vegetation Management Unit conducts numerous successful bushland restoration and rehabilitation projects across diverse industries.

Our project planning factors in not only the biotic components of restoration, but also the abiotic components like soil stability, water quality and fluvial processes. This ensures the vegetation reaches a self-maintaining state as soon as possible, achieving positive and sustained biodiversity outcomes.

WHY Biodiversity Australia?

- 40 years' collective experience in bushland regeneration
- Latest equipment and leading edge technologies
- Concise, streamlined project management
- Highly trained team who understand all correct rehabilitation processes
- Competitive pricing – value for money

AWARD WINNING

Our work on the marine rehabilitation of the re-aligned Landers Pocket Drain (on behalf of the Brisbane Airport Corporation and Leighton Contractors) was awarded the Healthy Waterways ARUP Industry Award.
